Help your students invest in the skills today needed to lead the organizations of tomorrow.

A designation that stands out from the crowd.

To have a successful career, your students need the skills that will set them apart.

The CGMA® designation is perfect for future business professionals who want to serve as strategic business partners and drive sustainable success for organizations around the world.

As a CGMA designation holder, your students will show employers that they have what it takes to be effective in finance, operations, strategy and management.

No matter which position, location or industry — public or private, big or small — your students will benefit from the CGMA designation. With a CGMA next to their name, they’ll set their own standards.

Training for tomorrow’s leaders

The CGMA Finance Leadership Program provides your students with core technical finance and accounting, business, communication and leadership skills. The program has three learning levels that each build upon the previous section. Your students will start at the level that’s right for them, based on their knowledge and experience.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Operational level</th>
<th>Management level</th>
<th>Strategic level</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Key study areas:</td>
<td>Key study areas:</td>
<td>Key study areas:</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Data analytics</td>
<td>• Cost and project management</td>
<td>• Digital strategy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Finance function transformation</td>
<td>• Complex group reporting</td>
<td>• Risk oversight</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Regulatory framework</td>
<td>• Leadership and management</td>
<td>• Internal controls</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Cost accounting</td>
<td>• Business models</td>
<td>• Strategy formulation and execution</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>• Finance technologies</td>
<td>• Organizational performance</td>
<td>• Regulatory compliance</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Career benefits that last

- Your students learn what matters — the technical, finance, business, leadership and digital skills that over 2,000 accounting and finance teams in 150 countries say they need from their employees.
- Catching the eye of employers around the globe by showing that they’re dedicated, hardworking and continuously learning
- Earn higher salaries.
- Open new role opportunities.
- Differentiate themselves among their peers.

Requirements for CGMA

The CGMA is a notable designation that tells employers that your students have the skills needed to contribute to their organizations from the start. To maintain these standards, we require the following to achieve the designation.

Hold a bachelor’s degree from an accredited university.

Have a minimum of three years of relevant, work-based, practical management accounting experience.

Complete the CGMA Financial Leadership Program.

A globalized distinction

With a CGMA designation, your students will work with fellow accounting and finance professionals who hold the same designation, over 150,000 to be exact, in some of the world’s largest organizations, operating in every sector. Companies that employ CGMA holders include:

- Molex
- KOCH Industries INC
- Georgia-Pacific
- Volvo
- Siemens

Ready to further help your students develop the skills they need to be the next generation of leaders?

Put your students on the path toward earning the CGMA designation. Visit CGMA.org/BecomeACGMA to learn more about the CGMA designation.

Interested in having your students start the CGMA Finance Leadership Program while enrolled in school? Let’s talk. Email us at academic.partners@aicpa-cima.com.